Locate Motor Vehicle Registration and Licensing Information by State

Many states have resources on the Internet that help you obtain necessary forms and information on-line, so you don't have to stand in line. Below are links for state DMV's to obtain a driver's license and vehicle registration. Remember, information on the web is not always consistent. Some states offer online registration and other states provide a phone number or other information where you may learn about hours, fees and locations of motor vehicle offices (DMV page will open up in a new browser window.)
